DETAILED ACTION

Request for Continued Examination

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 3/28/05 has been entered.

Amendment

2. Applicant's submittal of an amendment on 3/28/05 was entered, wherein:

claims 1-48 are pending and claims 1 and 18 have been amended.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 35-37, 40-44, 46, and 48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 5,892,905 (Brandt).

Brandt discloses a system and method for accessing rental equipment reservation software applications via the world-wide web, including the steps of: displaying reservation summary having reservation data (i.e. car preference, origin city, etc.) and vehicle type information (see column 23, lines 64-67); tracking equipment inventory (see column 23, lines 30-40); making confirmation of reservation (see column 28, lines 60-63); updating reservation information (see column 32, lines 47-48); searching equipment inventory (see paragraph bridging columns 29-30); and displaying customer information and customer history information(see column 31, lines 7-11).

Art Unit: 3627

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-7, 9-13, 15, 17-24, 26-30, 32, and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brandt in view of U.S. Patent No. 5,253,166 (Dettelbach).

As set forth above, Brandt discloses a system and method for accessing rental equipment reservation software applications via the world-wide web, including the steps of: displaying reservation summary having reservation data (i.e. car preference, origin city, etc.) and vehicle type information (see column 23, lines 64-67); tracking equipment inventory (see column 23, lines 30-40); making confirmation of reservation (see column 28, lines 60-63); updating reservation information (see column 32, lines 47-48); searching equipment inventory (see paragraph bridging columns 29-30); and displaying customer information and customer history information(see column 31, lines 7-11).

Art Unit: 3627

Brandt fails to explicitly state that a plurality of customer reservations as displayed.

Dettelbach teaches the use of displaying a plurality of customer reservations (see column 9, line 58 - column 10, line 42; see also Figure 3).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Brandt with display capabilities of Dettelbach, because providing customers with the ability to review multiple reservations because customers often have several different reservations associated with a single event (for example, car rental and hotel rental).

7. Claims 6, 9, 23, and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brandt in view of Dettelbach and further in view of Internet Publication to Ryder (hereinafter "Ryder").

If it is held that fails to inherently disclose displaying route selection information selected from one-way and in-town, then Ryder is relied upon to teach one-way truck rental (see page 2, "Save 10% on All One-Way Rentals").

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Brandt/Dettelbach with the display of one-way or in-town route information as taught by Ryder, because it is important for vehicle inventory tracking to determine if a rental truck will be returned to the original vendor or a different vendor.

8. Claims 8 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brandt in view of Dettelbach and further in view of U.S. Patent No. 6,266,277 (hereinafter "Craig").

Brandt/Dettelbach fail to expressly disclose alerting the user of upon the detection of an update failure.

Art Unit: 3627

Craig teaches the use of a system alerting the user of upon the detection of an update failure (see paragraph bridging columns 7-8).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Brandt/Dettelbach with update alert failures as taught by Craig, because update alert failure notifications allows the user to determine when updates have problems.

9. Claims 38 and 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brandt in view of U.S. Patent No. 6,266,277 (hereinafter "Craig").

Brandt fails to expressly disclose alerting the user of upon the detection of an update failure.

Craig teaches the use of a system alerting the user of upon the detection of an update failure (see paragraph bridging columns 7-8).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Brandt with update alert failures as taught by Craig, because update alert failure notifications allows the user to determine when updates have problems.

10. Claims 14 and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brandt in view of Dettelbach and further in view of U.S. Patent No. 6,085,976 (hereinafter "Sehr").

Brandt/Dettelbach fail to expressly disclose displaying payment information.

Sehr teaches the use of displaying payment information (see column 16, lines 1-19).

Art Unit: 3627

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Brandt/Dettelbach with payment information display as taught by Sehr, because it is advantageous for vehicle rental vendors to know if a customers has paid for the rental before the customer leaves with the vehicle.

11. Claim 45 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brandt in view of U.S. Patent No. 6,085,976 (hereinafter "Sehr").

Brandt fails to expressly disclose displaying payment information.

Sehr teaches the use of displaying payment information (see column 16, lines 1-19).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Brandt with payment information display as taught by Sehr, because it is advantageous for vehicle rental vendors to know if a customers has paid for the rental before the customer leaves with the vehicle.

12. Claims 16 and 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brandt in view of Dettelbach and further in view of U.S. Patent No. 5,344,172 (hereinafter "Jaun").

Brandt/Dettelbach fail to expressly disclose verifying compatibility between a requested towing combination.

Jaun teaches that different towing combinations have varying towing capacities (see column 1, lines 29-32).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Brandt/Dettelbach with verifying towing combinations as taught by Jaun, because improper towing combinations can damage the rental equipment and possibly cause physical harm to the users.

13. Claim 47 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brandt in view of U.S. Patent No. 5,344,172 (hereinafter "Jaun").

Brandt fails to expressly disclose verifying compatibility between a requested towing combination.

Jaun teaches that different towing combinations have varying towing capacities (see column 1, lines 29-32).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Brandt with verifying towing combinations as taught by Jaun, because improper towing combinations can damage the rental equipment and possibly cause physical harm to the users.

Response to Arguments

14. Applicant's arguments filed March 28, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

On page 9, Applicant argues the 35 U.S.C. § 101 rejection set forth in the previous office action. In response to Applicant's amendment to claim 18, the 35 U.S.C. § 101 rejection is withdrawn.

On pages 10-12, Applicant argues the 35 U.S.C. § 102 rejection of claims 1-7, 9-13, 15, 17-24, 26-30, 32 and 34. Applicant's arguments related to claims 1 and 18 (and all dependent claims) are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection necessitated by Applicant's amendment.

On page 13, Applicant argues that Brandt fails to disclose all the features of claim 35. More specifically, Applicant argues that Brandt does not teach an equipment inventory field having information pertaining to the type of equipment and the number of equipment available at each of a plurality of locations. The Examiner respectfully disagrees. In column 23, lines 6-41, Brandt notes that in process step (2050) a list of cars (inventory) that are available at alternate locations (plurality of locations). Therefore, it is the Examiner's position that Brandt anticipates all the limitations required by claim 35.

On page 12, final paragraph, Applicant's arguments fail to comply with 37 CFR 1.111(b) because they amount to a general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references. Regarding claims 36, 37 and 40, Brandt clearly discloses searching a location for inventory (see column 23, lines 6-41). All other limitations generally argued by Applicant are also taught by Brandt.

On page 13, Applicant argues that Brandt in combination with Ryder fails to disclose reservation or equipment tracking and does not disclose a reservation summary. Ryder truck rental is clearly directed to reservation and equipment tracking. However, the Ryder reference is relied upon to teach the use of one-way truck rental. As set forth on page 2 of Ryder, one-way truck rentals are old and well known in the art. In addition to the motivation supplied above, it would have been obvious to employ the old and well known one-way truck rental option as taught by Ryder into the reservation system disclosed by Brandt, because providing users with one-way truck rental provide the user with greater customer service.
